Northwest Florida's Dave Dorman Subject of Turner Broadcast Network's Southern Living Program: Dorman Announcing New Motion Picture Deal

Summary: This week, sci-fi and fantasy illustrator Dave Dorman will be the subject of a Turner Broadcast Network "Southern Living" program, which features celebrities living in the South. Dorman, who just returned from the San Diego Comic-Con, is pleased to announce his Wasted Lands story is in development with a major motion picture company.

SHALIMAR, FL--On the heels of a successful trip to the San Diego Comic-Con, Northwest Florida illustrator Dave Dorman, voted the #1 Star Wars Artist of All Times, will be interviewed this week by Turner Broadcast Network for their Southern Living program, which features celebrities living in the South.

During the taping, Dorman will announce that his Wasted Lands story, a post-apocalyptic tale of good vs. evil with Sergio Leone visuals and Arthurian legend undertones, is being developed by a major motion picture company in a deal Dorman established during the San Diego Comic-Con this past week. Del Stone Jr., the Northwest Florida Daily News associate editor and a celebrated sci-fi and horror writer, is Dorman's writing partner on the Wasted Lands project.
